The Waikato Orchestral Society (INC)

The Waikato Orchestral Society promotes the performing of classical orchestral music in Hamilton by fostering and managing a symphony orchestra and thereby providing adult musicians with orchestral training and public performance opportunities.

The Society relies on the developed individual talents of accomplished musicians as the mainstay of the orchestra, at the same time giving them additional opportunities to play in string and wind ensembles. The Society aims to maintain a high performance standard by engaging experienced conductors and tutors. Individual members of the orchestra give their time and talents freely in support of the Society, as well as maintaining individual teaching and performance commitments.

The Waikato Orchestral Society is always pleased to assist community groups, such as the Hamilton Civic Choir, the Hamilton Operatic Society, Opera Waikato and others with the instrumental accompaniment required for their musical activities.

Public support is essential to ensure that the Society can continue to give local musicians and the community, orchestral music of the highest possible standard.

LEADER OF THE ORCHESTRA

Michael started on the violin at the age of 10, with the Bousefield School of Music in Putaruru. He also learnt from Michael Esling in Cambridge and Gregor McShane in Hamilton before going to London where he studied for six years under John Crawford and Sophie Langdon. More recently he has learnt from Sally Swedlund in Hamilton. Michael also plays the viola which he learnt by playing in shows with the Hamilton Operatic and Musikmakers.

Michael is currently an itinerant String Teacher in the Waikato region, a member of the WSO since 1987 and leader of the orchestra for the last two years. He has been involved with a number of musical groups and lately has had an invitation to join the Auckland Philharmonia in the "Last of the Proms Series" under the baton of William Southgate.
Ashley Hopkins joined the New Zealand Navy Band as Solo Clarinet player in 1981. He also continued his studies at the Auckland University to gain a Diploma in Music (Clarinet) in 1983.

After several promotion courses, he became Band Leader and, as Chief Petty Officer, had rehearsal and performance responsibilities. Besides this position, he was encouraged to take part in outside musical activities and has played as acting principle clarinet with the Auckland Philharmonia, conducted the Auckland Symphony Orchestra with his wife Jacqui playing the Mozart Bassoon Concerto and participating in musicals such as Les Miserables, and Chess. Ashley has resigned this year from the Navy and is now a freelance musician.
PROGRAMME

OVERTURE - THE MEN OF PROMETHEUS Op 49.

L. van Beethoven (1770 - 1829)

Prometheus, a legendary Greek figure is alluded to in various musical works, as well as the ballet, Creatures of Prometheus, for which Beethoven composed this his first overture. Beethoven was known to the Viennese public only for his septet No. 20 and Symphony No. 1 when, in 1801, he was commissioned to write music for a ballet designed by the celebrated ballet master Salvatore Vigano. At the time, Beethoven seemed to be much concerned with being seen to be original, even to the point of advising his publisher to point out, through special advertisements, the innovations in his Piano Variations on Original Themes, Op 34 and 35. It is Op 35 which develops the bass line of the contredanse used in the Prometheus Overture into fifteen variations and a full length fugue.

Following the first performance of this work on 28 March 1801, more then twenty repeat performances took place. Melodic material from the finale of the ballet is used in the principal section of the overture, a notable innovation at the time.
Now a Rotorua Lakes High School 6th Former, Rebecca has performed with the Waikato Symphony Orchestra some three years ago in a movement of the clarinet concerto of C. M. von Weber and the Society is very happy to have the orchestra accompany her this time in a concerto by Mozart. Rebecca has, among others, studied with Murray Johnson from Hamilton, Frank Gurr, Alan Hacker, Murray Khouri, Deborah Rawson and Mark Walton.

Clarinetist Deborah Rawson described her as having "exceptional ability and great musical potential". Rebecca played in the final of the Westpac Schools Music Contest, the National Concerto Competition and with the New Zealand Secondary Schools Symphony Orchestra under Peter Scholes.

She is soon to compete at the Performing Arts Association of NZ 1994 National Piano and Instrumental Awards in Wellington. Rebecca is also a keen actor - singer who has played major roles in school musicals, Rotorua Operatic Society and Rotorua Little Theatre productions. After tertiary study she hopes to follow a career in music and drama.

CONCERTO FOR CLARINET & ORCHESTRA in A Major, K 622.

Soloist: Rebecca Poata - Smith.
W. A. Mozart (1756 - 1791)

Allegro,
Adagio,
Rondo allegro.

Composed in the last year of Mozart's life, this concerto is one of three Mozartian works in which the clarinet is the leading instrument (the other two being the Trio for Piano, Viola and Clarinet and the Quintet for Clarinet and Strings). Twenty-two concerti were composed by Mozart in his last decade, of which seventeen were for piano, four for French horn and one for clarinet.

Sadly Mozart never heard this concerto performed — the instrumentation for the last movement was completed two months before his death while he was working on his Requiem. The original version was written for a type of bassett horn or "basset clarinet", which had a range extending to C. The solo part was later adapted for A clarinet, with frequent use being made of the clarinet's lower register. Mozart's close friend, clarinettist Anton Stadler's influence and technical ability is much in evidence in the two-octave leaps, widely spaced arpeggios, occasional chromatic runs and accompanying triad figures at the bottom of the register.

The repertoire for clarinet had been growing steadily for the last 50 years and by 1791 Mozart no longer used the orchestra in a merely accompanying role.

MOVEMENTS FROM "SUITE FROM THE WATER MUSIC".

G. F. Handel (1685 - 1759)
Arranged by A. Baines

I Allegro,  II Air,  III Bourée,  IV Hornpipe,
V Minuet  VII Allegro,  VIII Larghetto,  IX Air,
XI Alla Hornpipe

The Water Music and the Fireworks Music are thought to be the only compositions of Handel's written specifically for open air performances, the majority of his orchestral music being composed for the theatre.

The origins of the Water Music are uncertain - the Suite incorporates at least two pieces composed on different occasions, in different keys (F, D, and G) for different instruments.

The most frequent and picturesque explanation seems to feature over twenty pieces being performed by over fifty musicians on July 19, 1717, as an accompaniment to King George's travels on the royal barge up the river Thames from Whitehall to Chelsea.

On this trip, instruments included trumpets, horns, oboes, bassoons, flutes, recorders, violins and basses. Since that date there have been numerous additions, omissions and re-arrangements - at a later date Handel himself increased the number of players and added a harpsichord continuo.

SYMPHONY No. 34 in C Maj K 338

W. A. Mozart (1756-1791)

Allegro vivace, Andante di molto, Minuet (K 409), Finale - Allegro vivace

This symphony, composed by the 24 year old Mozart, was his last composition written from Salzburg. It is described as 'vigorous and spacious' and was seen as a brilliant farewell to the orchestra in which he was trained and raised. It reveals no sign of the unhappy conditions under which it was written - Mozart had recently returned to Salzburg after a six month journey to Mannheim, Paris and points in between searching unsuccessfully for a position worthy of his talents.

K 338 circulated in manuscript form from the mid 1780's and was not published until 1797, six years after Mozart's death.
